

Political Theory and Philosophy

GVPT 241
Spring 2023

Description

Like the theoretical component of every science, political theory is the practice of providing provisional explanations to political phenomenon. This function is the empirical aspect of political theory. But unlike other scientific theories, there is a normative function of political theory as well. Many governments around the world claim to be democratic in some way, even authoritarian regimes that are clearly undemocratic. Some of them are being disingenuous. But others are working with a different conception of “democracy.” The practice of political theory is 1) to understand how the concepts and values of politics are understood and utilized by citizens and politicians, but also 2) to make arguments about how these concepts and values should be understood and utilized. The USA was founded in part on the fundamental equality of all people. Does this mean that the practice of slavery should be tolerated by the state? Only the practice of political theory can answer this question.

This course is an introduction to a curated collection of topics and concepts in the practice of political theory. The primary goals are to get students to understand how the practice of political theory can explain and influence the practice of politics in the world, and to get students to love political theory. Anyone who has opinions about the world is a political theorist, even if it is from your armchair. This course will make you a better one.

Activities, Learning Assessments, & Expectations for Students

- Students are required to complete all of the readings, and are expected to attend the lectures in person.
- Students must keep on top of the reading, which will range from 40 – 80 pages per week.

- Students are required to attend their assigned Discussion Sections with questions and comments, and any other work prepared.
- Students will be assessed in weekly online discussions.
- Students will be assessed by 5 online quizzes throughout the semester.
- Students will also be assessed by a short writing assignment, and a group project.

Course-Specific Policies

The lateness penalty: 10% of assignment grade after 1 day late, 5% after second day, 2% after third day, and then 1% of assignment grade for each additional day.

Communication Policy: Your UTAs are the first points of contact for course-related queries. They will also be keeping weekly office hours. Students may also contact Joel or myself directly for whatever reason. For all email communications, please allow 24 hours for a reply, and up to 48 hours over the weekend.

Absence Policy: The University has returned to its normal absence policy, meaning students are able to miss one Discussion Section meeting without penalty. All other absences, medical or otherwise, must be accompanied with a note from an authority figure (doctor, employer) in order to be excused. If you are unwell and cannot attend your section, all effort must be made to inform your UTAs in advance. All absences due to religious or official athletic engagements must be discussed in advance, so that proper accommodations can be made, if necessary.

COVID-19 Policies: If you have symptoms of possible COVID, or test positive, you must contact UMD HEAL (www.umd.edu/HEAL, 301-405-4325) to report your case and receive instructions. If you must isolate, you will not be penalized for missing your Discussion Sections. You are also asked not to attend Lectures, which will be recorded and made available through our ELMS classroom.

Get Some Help!

Taking personal responsibility for your own learning means acknowledging when your performance does not match your goals and doing something about it. I hope you will come talk to me so that I can help you find the right approach to success in this course, and I encourage you to visit tutoring.umd.edu to learn more about the wide range of campus resources available to you. In particular, everyone can use some help sharpen their communication skills (and improving their grade) by visiting ter.ps/writing and schedule an appointment with the campus Writing Center. You should also know there are a wide range of resources to support you with whatever you might need (see go.umd.edu/assistance), and if you just need someone to talk to, visit counseling.umd.edu or one of the many other resources on campus.

Most services are free because you have already paid for it, and everyone needs help... all you have to do is ask for it.
