Course location: Tydings 2102

Office: Chincoteague 3117 D
Office Hours: Thurs. 12:15-1:15 & by appt.

Course aims: This course is an advanced seminar on nationalism and ethnic conflict. Students are expected to gain an understanding of the major causes and consequences of ethnic, nationalist, and separatist conflict. The course will focus on both theories of ethnicity and nationalism, as well as theories of conflict related to these issues. The course will also explore empirical trends in ethnic and nationalist politics.

Evaluation and Grading: Student grades are based on the following

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Weight</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Exam 1</td>
<td>30%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exam 2</td>
<td>30%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Research paper or analysis papers</td>
<td>40%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Exams are short answer and taken in class or on final exam day. Students have two options for the writing component. The first option is a traditional research paper where student will apply a set of theories to a conflict and the paper (12-15 pages) is due at the time of the final. The topic must be approved beforehand. The second option is a set of three analysis papers. Each will be 5 pages in length and will follow from a prompt given in class. The response papers will also entail application of theory from class and some independent research. Response papers will be due periodically during the semester and cannot be turned in together at the end of term.

Books and assigned readings: There is one required book available through the university book center. All other readings are posted on the course site.

Code of conduct: The University of Maryland, College Park has a nationally recognized Code of Academic Integrity, administered by the Student Honor Council. This Code sets standards for academic integrity at Maryland for all undergraduate and graduate students. As a student, you are responsible for upholding these standards for this course. It is very important for you to be aware of the consequences of cheating, fabrication, facilitation, and plagiarism. For more information on the Code of Academic Integrity or the Student Honor Council, please visit http://osc.umd.edu/OSC/Default.aspx

Cell phone policy: The use of cell phones is not permitted in class. Students are expected to participate actively in discussion.

Email policy: The best way to discuss course material and any issues with course logistics in person. Please only email to set up an appointment with me. You do not need to contact me about missing regular class meeting. I will assume you are making every effort to attend each session.

Missing class: The University of Maryland has a new policy regarding medically necessitated absences from class. Under the new policy, we will accept a self-signed note from the student attesting to the date of the illness as an excused absence from a single class in which there is no major grading event scheduled. A student is allowed only ONE self-signed note per class per semester. There are three major scheduled grading events: the two exams.
A student who experiences a prolonged absence or an illness preventing attendance at a major scheduled grading event is required to provide written documentation of the illness from the Health Center or an outside health care provider, verifying the dates of the treatment and the time period during which the student was unable to meet academic responsibilities.

Students with disabilities: I will make every effort to accommodate students who are registered with the Disability Support Services (DSS) Office. Students who are not registered with DSS or who do not provide us with documentation or have not had that documentation reviewed by DSS early in the semester cannot be accommodated.

Religious Observance: By the end of September students must provide in writing a request for a make up of exams and other required assignments if the syllabus indicates a date when you are unable to attend due to a specific religious observance.
